

IT FACTS

QuickDoc: Quality, branding and productivity in Word

- Word add-in with numerous additional functions
- Seamlessly integrates into Word and your IT infrastructure
- Unmatched usability
- Microsoft-certified

BRANDING FULLY CONSOLIDATED

QuickDoc ensures correct usage of your corporate design in every Word document.

CONTENT WELL ORGANIZED

QuickDoc enables centralized content provision with authorization management and user groups in your organization.

SIMPLIFIED DOCUMENT CREATION

QuickDoc makes Word easier to work with and makes users more productive.

Easy distribution in all Windows environments

ADD-IN

- Compatible with all current Office and Windows versions (incl. Office 365), including in Citrix environments and on terminal servers. As a Microsoft partner, we're informed of any changes early on, and promptly provide you with any necessary updates
- The (free) Microsoft components .NET Framework 4.6.2 (or higher) and Visual Studio Tools for Office 2010 Runtime (or higher) need to be installed. QuickDoc can then be installed without any problem
- Easy packaging/installation with a completely preconfigured msi file. Installation via your normal software distribution process. Silent activation using a preset license key

CONTENT

- Easy, central content storage on a File Share / SharePoint or similar file system at your company. Synchronization for offline operation using QuickDoc or your own tools
- Rights granted by assigning read/write permissions on central content folder, e.g. via Active Directory. QuickDoc simply adopts the folder permissions

Integration instead of additional structures

Your existing file system

- Centrally managed content is stored at your company, e.g. File Share, SharePoint, Box, Dropbox
- No database server required
- Globally distributed server structures and different content distribution methods also available to minimize storage requirements and network load

Your existing rights management

- Direct use of your system, e.g. Active Directory, Azure Active Directory, Box
- No duplicated structures
- QuickDoc selects folder rights and assigns roles accordingly

Open content management architecture

- Direct integration of existing storage locations, e.g. project folders or SharePoint libraries
- No lock-in of your content
- Presentations managed by QuickDoc can also be used by other applications, e.g. web applications

Integration of your existing marketing assets

- Direct integration of media asset management platforms, DAMs or image databases
- No duplicated data management
- Direct access, e.g. to images, via the QuickDoc interface

Secure data – meeting GDPR requirements

- Your data stays at the company – Only your existing storage locations are used; no data sent to third parties
- The only time data may be sent is during the license activation process:
 - QuickDoc sends the product ID, license key and computer name (in the case of computer-based activation) or Windows user name (in the case of user-base activation) to the Strategy Compass license server
 - The user name may be encrypted with an md5 hash, making it impossible to infer user names
 - Depending on the license type, the license activation process may even be waived completely, meaning that no data at all is transmitted

Transparent licensing

License model

QuickDoc is generally licensed as a subscription (annual license payment)

- License price includes updates and maintenance
- License price also includes rollout assistance and support package during business operations

Additional license models and company licenses available

License management

Convenient license management via a license portal:

- Transparent license availability and usage
- Configuration of license options (e.g. auto-renewal yes/no, reminders)
- Orders and order history
- Management of activations and license releases (e.g. if a computer is swapped)

A Strategy Compass product.

Strategy Compass combines the expertise of a software company with the skills of a design agency specializing in Microsoft Office. As such, we enable organizations worldwide to maximize their potential in their marketing, sales and internal communications.

Contact

+49 211 388 54 308
info@strategy-compass.com